

Daniele Mansi – Profumi della Costiera Limoncello

One thousand years ago, Amalfi lemons were already being cultivated. These lemons are called “Sfusato Amalfitano” because of their particularly tapered shape. They are wonderfully perfumed, bright yellow and have a thick porous peel. The Amalfi Coast is famous for its terraced lemon orchards framing the white houses which cling to the precipitous mountains.

Profumi della Costiera Limoncello is distilled using an ancient recipe. The liquor preserves the wonderful color and the magic aroma of the “Sfusato Amalfitano.” All products are made by hand with selected ingredients only, and without the addition of coloring or preservatives. The result is a limoncello of the highest quality and unique taste.

Limone IGP Costa d’Amalfi

Limoncello produced with I.G.P. lemons Costa d’Amalfi, without the addition of colorings, flavorings or preservatives — a process as simple as it is ancient, the Profumi della Costiera Liquore di Limone shows its true color and, above all its magical aromas.

Profumi della Costiera is an artisan company from Ravello. It was founded by Daniele Mansi, together with his brother Nicola and their cousin Nicola in 1993. All products are made by hand with selected ingredients only, and without the addition of coloring or preservatives. Their flagship product is their limoncello. One thousand years ago, Amalfi lemons were already famous for their quality. The “Sfusato Amalfitano” (named because of their tapered shape) is a particular variety of lemon, which is recognized as a Indicazione Geografica Protetta because of its unique qualities, they are wonderfully perfumed, bright yellow and have a thick, porous peel. Also available from Profumi della Costiera are Finocchietto (a fennel-based liqueur) and Liquore di Liquirizia (a licorice liqueur).

We also import Profumi della Costiera Limoncello in hand-painted, ceramic bottles. Only a small number are available. Ask your representative for information.
