Magliano
Blanc de Noirs Metodo Classico

BIOLOGICO

Overview

- High in the Alta Langa at 440 meters, where cool nights and a salty breeze from the Ligurian sea keep the grapes bright, brothers Giovanni and Marco Magliano grow organic Pinot Noir on red clay and white marl. They pick it in late August, ferment it in the bottle, then let it rest on its lees for two to three years. The result is pale straw and fine-bubbled, with flowers, warm bread crust and a creamy, mouthwatering finish.

Appellation: Piemonte DOC Metodo Classico

Style: Sparkling, white

Varietal: 100% Pinot Noir (French clone, grafted)

Winemaking and Vineyard Notes

Vineyard: Monesiglio, Alta Langa; Approximately 440m above sea level; southeast exposure.
Vine age: Planted in 2018.
Soil: Strong, red, iron-rich loamy clay with sand layers.
Harvest: Late-August, picked for sugar-acid balance with grape selection and bunch thinning.
Fermentation: Fermented in stainless steel on clean must at about 15° C.
Vinification: Metodo classico (traditional method); tirage in late spring; second fermentation in bottle.
Lees aging: 24-36 months, depending on vintage.

Tasting Notes

Color: Light, straw yellow.
Bouquet: Flowers and bread crust.
Palate: Fresh acidity, creamy mousse and good persistence.
Serving Temperature: 6-8° C (43-46° F)

Food Pairing

Fried antipasti, sushi, vitello tonnato and aged Piemontese cheeses such as Toma.

Cantina Magliano is the work of brothers Giovanni and Marco Magliano, two engineers reviving Cascina Boschetto, an old Alta Langa farmhouse between Monesiglio and Camerana. Rather than reshaping the fragile hills, they rebuilt dry-stone walls, followed the land's natural contours, and planted certified-organic vineyards between 400 and 440 meters, cooled by the märin breeze from Liguria. Their first harvest came in September 2020. FIVI independent winemakers, they also welcome guests to their four-room farmhouse B&B.
